

I am a graduate student in the Computer Engineering Department at Gebze Institute of Technology (GIT). Also, I have been working for GIT as a research assistant since 2005 January.

I would like to join ERASMUS project and go to EPITA in France, because I believe that this process will be a very useful experience for my academic career. Seeing different techniques about learning and teaching for computer science and engineering will be an invaluable experience for me. I think that this should help me significantly for my future assistantship and teaching duties.

In addition, I think that it will be a significant feedback about ERASMUS programme for my department. My acceptance to this programme will help to guide later students for subsequent agreements other universities of France and European Union.

I want to learn the second foreign language. I have started a French language course for this aim. I wish improve my French by joining the ERASMUS programme. Thus, I will be able to read and understand more articles and books. Nowadays knowing a foreign language helps you get along more sufficiently with different peoples. It is necessary to establish a better relationship with your friends and the people all around the world!

I periodically work as a volunteer in the Educational Volunteers Foundation of Turkey, TEGV, which is a non-profit organization for improving educational experience of poor students throughout Turkey. I think that the experiences, I achieve in EPITA, will be beneficial to me in my activities at this society.

In this respect, I strongly believe that the ERASMUS project effects me permanently. This program, really, will be helpful and useful to improve myself. I am ready to do my best and take all responsibilities for this reason to develop a beter future career.
